Those scheduled to join Johnson and Wheeler included Secretary of Defense Robert S. Rights Bill Passage Is Predicted

Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — A civil rights bill born of compromise appears destined for Senate passage after a six-week struggle.

The new bill could be presented today if proponents of civil rights legislation agree on the details before the Senate opens for business.

The next move would be a renewed attempt to choke off a debate carried on by Southern and conservative Republican opponents since Congress reconvened Jan. 15.

No final vote on the bill itself is expected before next week at the earliest.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who twice has voted against ending the debate, told newsmen Tuesday "a very substantial measure of agreement" had been reached on the bill.

Dirksen said the compromise measure's open-housing provision "will be stronger than the one I helped kill two years ago."

The compromise open-housing proposal would take effect in three stages, applying immediately to housing financed with federal aid and by the end of the year to big apartments and housing developments.

The third stage, applying in a limited degree to sale or rental of single-family dwellings, reportedly would take effect next year.

It would exempt single-family dwellings if the owners sell or rent the property themselves but would not permit them to instruct real-estate brokers to discriminate.

The House passed an open-housing bill in 1966 which would have applied to about 40 per cent of the nation's housing. It was this measure which Dirksen helped defeat in the Senate. As currently written, the measure's open-housing provisions would apply to about 97 per cent of the nation's housing.

Dirksen outlined for newsmen some of the proposed compromises involving the other part of the new bill—providing criminal penalties for use of violence to interfere with voting, jury service, use of public accommodations and other "federally guaranteed rights."

The original administration bill called for federal protection for Negroes and civil-rights workers.

Dirksen said the new measure involves two categories. He said in some cases no racial motivation would have to be involved to make assaults a federal crime, but in other cases it would be a factor.

Other sources reported the compromise also would give states a chance to act in such cases before the federal government could prosecute.

dent postponement provision for at least a year whenever the monthly combat casualties for three consecutive months reach 10 per cent of the total number of men drafted each month. This would mean discontinuance during the Vietnam war, assuming the casualty rates there continue at the current level.

—Uniform national standards for interpretation by the 4,084 draft boards of induction laws.

"Accidents of geography should not determine who goes to war and who does not," Kennedy said.

—Discontinuance of occupational deferments except for those specified by the President.

Kennedy said that because the draft relies on compulsion, "we must be certain that its operation diminishes individual freedom and choice as little as possible."

But he said there are other important reasons for insuring that the draft is as fair as possible—including this one: Draftees comprise fewer than 2 of every 10 military men but account for 4 of 10 Army combat deaths in Vietnam.

"And as the intensity of the war increases, more and more draftees will wind up as war casualties," he said.

Case told the senate he opposes the end of draft deferments for most college graduate students.

French Say Bombing Halt Key to Talks

PARIS (AP) — The French government has received explicit information that an unconditional halt in American bombing of North Vietnam would be a "necessary and sufficient condition for an opening of negotiations," a government spokesman said today.

Information Minister Georges Gorse said the French government believes that failure to open negotiations increases each day the risk of seeing the war spread to other parts of the world.

He read a prepared statement after the regular weekly Cabinet meeting with President Charles de Gaulle.

The statement said: "The declaration of U Thant according to which the unconditional cessation of American bombardments of North Vietnam would be a necessary and sufficient condition for the opening of peace negotiations corresponds to information explicitly received by the French government."

"The Cabinet considers, as does the secretary-general of the United Nations, unless such sent a confidential report to Gen. Harold Johnson, Army chief of staff, on Dec. 1.

The gist of the panel's findings was discussed at a recent meeting attended by several state adjutant generals. One of those present said $80 million was given as "a round figure" for the cost of substantially increasing the percentage of Negroes in the Guard. This includes, he said, recruitment as well as training and equipping new Negro members. Another source placed the figure at $77 million.

The estimates include a wide range of items—from the cost of uniforms and pay allowances to advertising programs, officials said.

A National Guard Bureau spokesman, asked about the cost estimate, replied "I haven't heard that proposal."

Several states have expressed interest in a program similar to a pilot recruiting project under way in New Jersey, another Guard official said, "but we have replied to each one that we would like to hold a decision in abeyance for a few weeks until we know exactly where we are going."

"I'm sure there will be a national program of some sort."

The Pentagon slashed red tape last August and granted the New Jersey Guard a 5 per cent overstrength with the 860 places reserved for Negroes. As of this week, a spokesman said, 489 Negroes had been recruited. Nearly $30,000 has been spent for newspaper ads, radio commercials, billboards and leaflets "laced" at more than 39,000 "recruitable" Negro males in New Jersey.

"This is one program that has worked," said Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, chief of the National Guard Bureau, New Jersey's adjutant general, Maj. Gen. James F. Cantwell, agreed. "We think we've gotten over the hump," he said.

Increase in Rates on Car Insurance

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A special Insurance Department examiner took under advisement Tuesday a request for an average 5.5 per cent increase in automobile insurance rates.

Steele Hays, a Little Rock lawyer who heard the case for the Insurance Department, will deliver his recommendation to Insurance Commissioner Allan Horne for a final decision.

The Insurance Rating Board is seeking the increase in automobile liability, physical damage and collision insurance rates.

Although the average increase would be 5.5 per cent, the board seeks a 17.3 per cent increase in liability insurance. That is 3.3 per cent less than that requested a year ago by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the National Automobile Underwriters Association, which were consolidated into the IRB earlier this year.

Last year, the request for the increase was withdrawn.

The IRB is a national rating bureau representing 124 members and 110 subscriber firms in Arkansas that do about 40 per cent of the automobile liability, physical damage and collision insurance business in Arkansas.

Mrs. Hyatt and Mrs. Frazier played "Con-dollers" by Nevin as a piano duet, and Mrs. Hyatt and Mrs. Strech played "American Dances" by Harry Rowe Shelley in another piano duet arrangement.

Yellow spring flowers and a bowl of pink camellias made an attractive setting for the meeting. During a routine business session, Mrs. Jewel Moore, Jr., president, was in charge. The hostesses served cake and coffee to 19 members and 5 guests.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — To the outsider, the pop music field seems to offer ample opportunity to get rich in a hurry. Glen Campbell, a handsome six-footer from Delight, Ark., knows better.

For five years, Campbell played guitar for record artists like Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin and for movie scores such as "Cool Hand Luke" and "In the Heat of the Night." Meanwhile he tried to establish himself as a singer, but met with scant success. Finally last December he hit with a haunting lament, "By the Time I Get to Phoenix."

"That's when I made a New Year's resolution," he recalls. "I vowed to give up accompanying other singers and devote full time to my own career."

The resolve was fiscally more brave than it seems. Campbell was turning his back on a career that earned him a handsome $50,000 a year and was embarking on the chancey life of a pop singer.

"Believe me, I know how tough it can be," he remarked. "I've played for recording sessions of some of these teen-age sensations, and I've seen them come and go. Nothing can be less permanent than a singer who hits with one smash record. Where is Chubby Checker right now?"

Campbell's career seems to be on firmer ground. He has followed up the "Phoenix" hit by playing concert dates all over the country. His most promising opportunity will come this summer when he takes over as a host of the Smothers Brothers replacement show. Tommy Smothers, one of Glen's most enthusiastic supporters, will produce the show.

Campbell has the qualifications for success: a clear and facelift?

"I brought you a crying towel, Harry. Give it back to me when you're through with it. I've cried into it myself every year since I hit 40."

"There is no sense in fighting against time, Marge. After all, you now have what men value most in a woman—wisdom and maturity. Some men, anyway."

"The store is fresh out of birthday greeting cards. Why don't you send Harry a sympathy card and I'll send him a get-well card? They're more appropriate."

"Jim, I hear it's Harry's birthday. You know how these old-timers appreciate a little gesture from us front-office brass. How about having someone in the personnel department hand him a cigar or surprise him with a new cushion for his swivel chair?"

"Cheer up, Marge. There's still some life in the old dame yet."

"There's always something to be grateful for. At least you still have your health, Harry—except for your ulcer and that slight touch of high blood pressure."

"Here's a crumb of comfort! While there are probably two billion people on earth who are younger than you, there are one billion who are older. Doesn't that help put things in perspective?"

"Happy birthday, Marge! You never looked better."

"Happy birthday, Harry! All I hope is that when I reach your age I look just half as young as you do."

expressive style that compensates for what he lacks in timbre; an ingratiating manner unspiced by false humility; superb musicianship.

He started playing guitar back in Arkansas when he was 6, and by the time he was 8 he had his own radio show—"no pay, just cards and letters." The seventh son of a family that included eight sons and four daughters, Glen joined an uncle's band in Albuquerque as a teen-ager, then toured with his own outfit. After traveling 105,000 miles in a station wagon for 11 months, he decided to settle down in Hollywood. His skill with the guitar made him much in demand for record sessions,

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Once a year Red Skelton treats the television audience to a one-man show in which the performer does what he does best—pantomime. His Tuesday night CBS hour for this season was a taped program of a pantomime performance he recently gave on a New York stage for an audience drawn from the United Nations.

Skelton, a master of the silent art, was by turns funny and sad, gay and wistful, staggeringly drunk and shaking with old age. He moved from one characterization to another with ease, used few props in most of his sketches and delighted his audience.

Although there were announcements on hand to give the names of Skelton's numbers—"A Girl Dressing in the Morning," "Man at a Drive-In Movie"—in English and French—the veteran clown had no problems of communication with anybody.

One of the most moving of his sketches was an old man watching a parade. And he apparently can't resist slapstick. Perhaps the least effective number in the show was the one in which he had some help, playing a raffish old man conducting a courtship with the agile little old lady next door.

Later Walter Cronkite appeared in a half-hour program giving a report on his observations during a recent visit to Vietnam.

The first part of the program was a sort of illustrated briefing on the Tet offensive by the North Vietnamese, some interviews with military men and experts, with emphasis on the breakdown of the pacification program. Most interesting was the conclusion when Cronkite presented his "personal, subjective" thoughts about the situation. His impression, generally, is that the conflict is mired in stalemate, that the character of the conflict has changed now that the North Vietnamese have switched from guerrilla tactics to "a more Western style of war."

It was not an optimistic report, and Cronkite gave it in cautious language.

SHE SHOULD SEND A "NO THANK YOU" NOTE

Dear Helen: Is it proper for an 18-year-old girl to accept presents from a married man she met while on vacation?

She hasn't seen him since, but he keeps sending gifts. She doesn't want to hurt his feelings as he is old enough to be her father, so she accepts with a "Thank you" note.—WORRIED MOTHER

Dear Mother: Your daughter should return the presents with a "No Thank You" note. "Fatherly" old parties bearing gifts often unfatherly parties in mind—as their wives can no doubt tell you.—H.

Dear Helen: Our neighbor has a 10-year-old son and a daughter whose illegitimate baby is less than a year old. Mother and daughter take off almost every night with their boyfriends, coming home at 4 or 5 a.m. They leave the baby with the boy. The baby cries almost constantly, and the boy yells, "Shut up!"

We feel sorry for both these children, as the brother is too young for this responsibility. Can something be done before something terrible happens?—WORRIED NEIGHBORS

Dear W.N.: Why don't you discuss the situation with the Family Welfare Agency? Neighbors should never turn their backs where child neglect is indicated.—H.

Dear Helen: About a year ago I met this very nice single fellow in my apartment building and fell in love with him instantly. I'm 23 married, and have a baby.

He told me it was impossible for anything to come of our relationship. I call him whenever I get the chance, and he talks about his girls. Of course he's just trying to make me jealous. Yesterday he said he was moving to another state. Why is he running away from this great love?—CAN'T LIVE WITHOUT HIM

Dear CLWH: . . . Because it's one-sided, and he's smart!

Stop acting like a moonstruck teenager and get on with your marriage.—H.
Dear Helen: I am a work-ing wife. This year I will pay $343.20 Social Security tax. But as laws stand now, I will scarcely benefit from it.
If I retire, I will be eligible to receive only a few more dollars each month in Social Security payments than the non-work-ing wife who has never contributed anything toward the system. She gets an amount equal to about half her retired husband's benefits, simply because she is a wife. I can claim this at the proper age too, but I don't get it if I claim any benefits earned from my years of contributions.
So I'm paying in as much as my husband, but getting out very little more than I would as a wife, had I not suffered paycheck deductions all those years.

They tell me Social Security laws were made before many wives were working, and the "supplement" for the non-work-ing wife was added to keep retired couples off the relief roles. But all the same, I'm paying for someone else's pension, and I hope other working wives will join me in making my complaint heard.
Yours for up-dated Social Security Laws as concerns the—WORKING WIFE

Dear W.W.: If enough working wives make their complaint heard, they'll get action. Start lobbying!—H.

Tonight Is Important to Bobcats

by RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Although the season's record itself is not particularly successful, the Hope Bobcats forget all of the past now, realizing that two wins would place them in the state tourney next week.

Tonight the Bobcats start the make-or-break series of the 4-AA district tournament, meeting with the last-place club in the Eastern division of 4-AA. This in itself is a good pairing, and the locals would play Fairview should they capture the quarter-final berth this evening in the 9:15 p.m. contest at Southern State College in Magnolia.

For the Cats, their desire could make the difference in any ball game, and there is plenty of spirit on the squad. And the task is now set before them, in the next two evenings. If they should be beaten, though, the year for basketball would be over.

The team needs the fans' support badly here at the close of the season, and a strong following would certainly enhance the Bobcats' enthusiasm and desire to greater heights. Let's have a lot of support tonight at Magnolia, and you can bet that it will be appreciated.

Match Play Golf Likely to Return

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Match play golf, which disappeared from the pro circuit 10 years ago, may make a return, Professional Golf Association President Max Elbin said today.

"A number of proposals have been made," Elbin said, "and are under consideration. It could be as early as this fall, perhaps something of a spin-off from our PGA championship, a tournament of champions or something on that order."

If so, it would meet the approval of the touring pros.

"There's no doubt that golf galleries need something more than week-to-week stroke play," said Jack Nicklaus, who received the Gold Tee award for outstanding contributions to the game at the Metropolitan Golf Writers Association dinner Tuesday night.

"I'd like to see it. I'll even go one step further. In addition to a match play title tournament, I think we also should have a national team four-ball championship."

The PGA championship was the last major tour event to be played at match play. It shifted to medal play in 1958.

"Some of the younger players have never played match play as a pro," said Lionel Hebert. "But I go back to when the PGA was match play. There's a certain thrill to it that you don't get in medal play. I'd certainly like to see a big match play tournament come along."

Cage Stars Decline Bids to Olympics

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Three UCLA stars declined bids to the NCAA's 48-man Olympic Trials basketball squad for scholastic reasons, their spokesmen says, and any suggestion they are part of a proposed Negro boycott is pure speculation.

The NCAA squad announced Tuesday does include All-Americans Elvin Hayes of unbeaten, top-ranked Houston and Westley Unseld of Louisville's 9th-ranked Missouri Valley champs, plus most of the nation's major college scoring and rebounding leaders, many of them Negroes.

Hayes earlier said he might pass up the Olympics to avoid a late start in pro ball. His collegiate three-year scoring total is second in major college history only to Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati.

The three UCLA stars who declined are 7-foot-1½ Lew Alcindor, also a 1967 All-American, Mike Warren and Lucious Allen, all key figures in UCLA's unbeaten run to the NCAA crown last year.

Both Alcindor and Allen are juniors. The 48-man squad includes seven juniors, including Creighton's Bob Portman, No. 4 nationally in scoring; and seven sophomores, headed by Pete Maravich of Louisiana State and Calvin Murphy of Niagara, 1-2 on the national scoring table.

An eight-man NCAA committee compiled a list of 145 to 150 players and contacted their schools to determine whether they would accept bids.

"The response was most gratifying," said Walter Byers, NCAA executive director. "This is a tremendous squad." No count was made of the number of players who declined consideration, but he said they were few.

The squad includes 15 from the NCAA College Division and 33 from the University Division. The coaches for the April 4-5-6 Trials are Ray Meyer of DePaul, Tex Winter of Kansas State, John Bach of Fordham and Arad McCutchan of Evansville.

Three Teams Tied for SWC Lead

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Any resemblance between the Big Ten, Big Eight and Southwest Conference basketball standings of Tuesday and Wednesday is purely accidental.

The Big Ten, which had a two-way tie, now has Iowa all alone at the top. The Big Eight, which also had a two-way tie, shows Kansas State in the lead but four teams bunched within one game of each other. And Texas, which had been the Southwest leader, slipped into a three-way deadlock with Baylor and Texas Christian.

While those three leagues were trying to determine their representatives in the NCAA tournament, two tourney-bound teams were in action Tuesday night. All Top Ten clubs in the Associated Press Poll were idle.

At New York, NCAA-bound St. John's jolted National Invitation Tournament hopeful Holy Cross 83-67 in a sloppily-played game, despite 31 points by the losers' Keith Hochstein.

At South Bend, Ind., Bob Arzen and Bob Whitmore combined for 63 points and led NIT-bound Notre Dame past Valparaiso 87-75. The 6-foot-5 Arzen scored a season's high 35 points while 6-7 Whitmore had 28 and pushed his two-year total to 1,023.

Three other teams continued their efforts to impress the NIT selection committee. Villanova, with Johnny Jones sinking eight straight shots in the first half and scoring 30 points, edged Toledo 71-69, but almost blew a seven-point lead in the last two minutes in its own field house.

Sophomore Chad Calabria, a 6-1 guard, scored 11 quick points as Iowa took a 14-3 lead over Michigan State and rolled to a 76-58 victory at Iowa City. Calabria finished with 25 points and Sam Williams added 22 as the Hawkeyes took a half-game lead over idle Ohio State and a full game over Purdue, which lost to Michigan 104-94.

A 52.4 per cent shooting mark and Rick Mount's 35 points were not enough for Purdue. The Boilermakers made only six of 12 free throws while Michigan connected on 20 of 31. Rudy Tomjanovich scored 30 points as the Wolverines dedicated their new University Events Arena.

Kansas State took over the Big Eight lead by whipping Missouri 70-63, while Kansas bowed to Nebraska 76-69 and Iowa State was idle. The standings show Kansas State at 8-3, Iowa State 7-3, Nebraska 8-4 and Kansas 7-4.

Steve Honeycutt scored 27 points and 7-1 Nick Pino grabbed 16 rebounds to spark Kansas State past Missouri. The Wildcats are at Iowa State next Monday in a key battle.

Stu Lantz scored 22 points as Nebraska dropped Kansas from its share of the lead. But the big surprise was Bob Grattopp, a 6-4 sophomore, who netted 21 points and hauled down 13 rebounds against the taller Jayhawks.

The three-way tie in the Southwest's annual rodeo came about when Texas Christian beat Texas 71-65 and Baylor defeated Arkansas 71-64. The three leaders have 8-5 records. Texas A&M missed a chance to make it a four-way deadlock by dropping an 83-81 double overtime game to Texas Tech.

U.S. Olympic Cage Team Dealt a Blow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The controversy over South Africa's readmission to the Summer Olympic Games continued to boil throughout the world today while the U.S. Olympic basketball team suffered a blow of its own — losing four college stars.

A move was underway in London to call a special meeting of the International Olympic Committee to reconsider the action of South Africa. In Washington, U.S. foreign affairs officials expressed concern over the move of African nations to boycott the Games, but indicated no U.S. action at present is planned for fear of further complicating what they privately describe as a "mess."

At Kansas City, the National Collegiate Athletic Association announced that Lew Alcindor, Lucius Allen and Mike Warren of UCLA had rejected invitations to participate in the Olympic trials. In Los Angeles, Jess Hill, athletic director at Southern California, said Bill Hewitt of the Trojans also had declined an invitation.

The four basketball stars are Negroes, but gave "academic" reasons for rejecting the invitations. They said the trials would take them away from school too long.

On Monday 32 African nations withdrew from the Games in Mexico City in October as a protest against South Africa's participation. South Africa was barred from the 1964 Games because of its racial policies, but was readmitted this year after promising to send an integrated team.

Giulio Onesti, president of the Italian Olympic Committee, said Tuesday he had asked Avery Brundage, president of the IOC, to call a special meeting. Brundage said he saw no possibility of a special meeting and the Marquess of Exeter, an influential member of the IOC, agreed with him.

"We had exhaustive debates on the re-entry of South Africa," the Marquess said. "We took a postal vote on the issue and the vote was substantially in favor of South Africa's re-entry. The world would think it very strange if two weeks later we had another meeting to discuss the whole business yet again."

Kentucky.
Minnesota dropped Kentucky 102-93 and Anaheim stormed by Dallas 132-110 in the American Basketball Association Tuesday night.

In the NBA, St. Louis whipped New York 108-102, Philadelphia bombed San Francisco 127-107 and Los Angeles defeated Cincinnati 117-106.

Carrier hit five three-point baskets from beyond the 25-foot limit for Kentucky but Minnesota's free throw shooting got the Muskies past the Colonels. The Muskies canned 42 of 56 free throws.

Minnesota snapped off seven straight points in the final 5½ minutes, breaking a tie and easing past Kentucky. Mel Daniels led Minnesota with 27 points and Errol Palmer had 20, Carrier finished with 29 for the Colonels.

Anaheim turned a six-point halftime lead into a 99-88 edge after three quarters and coasted by Dallas as Ben Warley finished with 30 points. Cincy Powell had 25 and Charles Beasley 23 for the Chaparrals.

Bruins Take Big Step to the Playoffs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Boston Bruins, who haven't reached the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs in nine years, have taken another big step toward making it this year.

Skip Krake's goal while the Bruins were short-handed ignited Boston to a 5-3 victory over the expansion Pittsburgh Penguins Tuesday night, leaving the Bruins with a hefty 11-point lead on Toronto in the battle for the last playoff spot in the East Division.

Pittsburgh, meanwhile, took another step backward in its bid to catch St. Louis for the last playoff position in the West Division. The Penguins are a point out of fourth place, but have played two games more than St. Louis.

Hayes Only Unanimous Team Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — Elvin Hayes, 6-foot-8 star of top-ranked Houston, is the only unanimous choice of the 12 National Basketball Association coaches on their annual college All-Star team announced today.

Trailing Hayes were 7-1 Lew Alcindor of UCLA, with 11 first team votes and one second team, and 6-8 Westley Unseld of Louisville, with 10 firsts and two seconds. All three are repeaters from last year's team.

Rounding out the coaches' first team are 6-4 Don May of Dayton and 6-5 Pete Maravich of Louisiana State, the nation's leading scorer and only sophomore on the first unit. Both received five first-team votes.

Alcindor is a junior, the others seniors.
Named to the second team were 6-4 senior Larry Miller of North Carolina, 5-10 sophomore Calvin Murphy of Niagara, 6-3 junior Jo Jo White of Kansas, 6-11 sophomore Bob Lanier of St. Bonaventure and 6-8 senior Don Smith of Iowa State.

Honorable mention went to Lucius Allen, UCLA; Mike Lewis, Duke; Butch Beard, Louisville; Henry Logan, Western Carolina; Charlie Scott, North Carolina; Jimmie Hill, West Texas State; Merv Jackson, Utah; Shaler Hallimon, Utah State; Ron Williams, West Virginia; Tom Boerwinkle, Tennessee; and Harry Hollins, Denver.

Bond Issue for Baseball

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Albuquerque property owners approved by a narrow margin a $1 million bond issue for construction of a 10,420-seat multi-sports stadium to serve professional baseball, prep football and other events.

The Albuquerque Dodgers of the Class AA Texas League will make their home in the facility.

Porkers Beaten by Baylor

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks lost control of the ball seven times in the last four minutes of the game here Tuesday night and Baylor's Bears took advantage to grab a 71-64 Southwest Conference victory.

The win enabled Baylor to move into a three-way tie for first place in the conference with TCU and Texas. TCU threw the race into a longjam by whipping the Longhorns Tuesday night. All have 6-5 records. Arkansas is now 6-7.

Arkansas, which trailed for most of the game, pulled to within 62-60 of the Bears with 4:26 left but then the Razorbacks' string of turnovers began.

Baylor had four players hit in double figures and outshot the Razorbacks from the field by hitting 49 per cent of its shots. Arkansas connected on 45 per cent of its shots, and the Porkers did manage to out rebound Baylor 34-29.

Bob Porter led the Baylor attack with 16 points. Benton Cone paced Arkansas with 26 points. Baylor's record is 7-2.

Pair of 9s a Factor in Playoffs

By ED SCHUYLER JR., Associated Press Sports Writer
It's a pair of 9s for the Philadelphia 76ers and the New York Knicks. In the pot are playoff positions and money based on the final National Basketball Association regular-season standings.

Philadelphia drew its nine Tuesday night by drubbing San Francisco 127-107. The Knicks kept their nine by losing 108-102 to St. Louis.

The 9s are the won-loss combinations Philadelphia needs for its third straight Eastern Division title and New York needs to grab third in the East for its highest finish since the 1958-59 season when the Knicks were second.

Any combination of Philadelphia victories and or Boston losses would give the 76ers the championship. In New York's case, the combination involves Baltimore, which is fourth, the final playoff spot.

In the only other NBA game Tuesday night, Los Angeles trounced Cincinnati 117-106. Minnesota topped Kentucky 102-93 and Anaheim trounced Dallas 132-110 in the American Basketball Association.

Wilt Chamberlain, who is becoming accustomed to the winner's share of regular-season bonus money, led Philadelphia to its 18th victory in 21 games by pouring in 33 points, grabbing 31 rebounds and handing out five assists. Chet Walker contributed 30 points and 16 rebounds for the 76ers who increased their lead to 5 1/2 games over second-place Boston. Fred Hetzel scored 30 points for San Francisco, third in the Western Division.

St. Louis, first in the West, got off the 9 kick, reducing its magic number to eight with its victory, which at first looked easy but turned out to be anything but easy.

The Hawks, with Len Wilkens getting 13 points, outscored New York 35-17 in the second period for a 62-45 lead. But New York, with Cazzie Russell hitting 18 of his 19 points in the second half, rallied to tie at 97-97 on Dick Barnett's basket.

Then, Don Ohl sandwiched a pair of free throws and a basket around a foul shot by New York's Balt Bellamy and Lou Hudson followed Ohl's field goal with one of his own to clinch it for the Hawks.

Wilkens and teammate Zelmo Beatty each scored 26 points. Barnett led New York with 22 and Willis Reed added 21.

Elgin Baylor kept Los Angeles six games behind St. Louis and knocked Cincinnati out of a tie with Baltimore by scoring 40 points. Jerry Lucas led Cincinnati with 31.

Los Angeles once again played without injured Jerry West, and the Royals had to use a sub-par Oscar Robertson. The Big O, hampered by an injury to his right side, scored only 11.

Finals to Be Played There

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The University Arena, already the site for the U.S. Olympic basketball trials, was selected Tuesday as the site of the finals for the Olympic boxing trials.

The 22 boxers in the finals of the 11 divisions will box in the 14,831-seat arena after training in Santa Fe Sept. 9-20.

Riot Report Disputes Unsettled

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Differences among members of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders remain unsettled as the panel pushes toward completion of its landmark report on last summer's riots.

In disclosing this, one commission member who refused to permit use of his name said some commissioners want a stronger "get-tough" policy toward rioters than that preferred by their colleagues.

The disagreement extends also to how much blame should be placed on city police for what the commission member called repressive measures taken to quell racial violence.

But he said the commission will call firmly for maintenance of law and order, both in combating riots and in cleaning up conditions—such as narcotics traffic—that contribute to slum crimes.

The 11-member commission, appointed by President Johnson after last summer's riots in Newark and Detroit, meets today and Wednesday to put the finishing touches on a report scheduled for release next Sunday.

The document will provide a detailed report on last summer's riots, examine causes of the disorders and recommend steps to prevent further violence.

Commission members hope the report will shock the public because, as a member put it, "If we don't do something about it we're going to have a hell of a problem in this country."

The member who reported the differences of opinion said "a lot of people may be disappointed" in the report because it will make the point that there is no easy answer and no quick solution.

Major recommendations will cover job training, better education and better housing, he said. The commission's investigation shows conditions in many city slums are "unbelievable"—far worse than most Americans believe, he said.

A source close to the commission said Monday the panel will recommend that local police departments establish special offices to improve their relations with slum residents.

Under the proposal, he said, the federal government would supply 90 per cent of the funds for salaries of "community service officers."

These officers "would be recruited from ghetto areas and they would work in the ghettos," the source said. "But they will be part of the police department—they'll be hybrid police officers."

Because of their slum backgrounds, he said, they may not be able to meet the qualifications required of other officers—"they could even have criminal records."

For this reason, a police official said, some police chiefs may resist the recommendation. "We need well-educated, highly qualified police officers in this area, not just anyone," he said.

Letters to the Editor

POST OFFICE AND YOU

Editor The Star: I have read a few of your "anti-government" remarks and agree that we, the people, have far too little influence. Being an ex-postal worker I have particularly noted the ever-widening gap between the people's desires and the actual operation of the Post Office Department.

As with other governmental functions, our mail service has deteriorated to its present low state because too few people have complained to lawmakers. Anyone who has not contacted his congressman and senators can blame himself for unwanted mail, on which Post Office handling costs are only partly paid by the sender. Where does the remainder come from? Surely we all know—Taxes. Most first-class mail is desirable or necessary. It more than pays its way. "Junk" and other advertising matter, is the biggest needless deficit maker. Subsidizing postage on periodicals may usually be justified if subscription is initiated and paid directly by addressee.

Besides operating more deeply in the red each year, the P.O. Dept. is generally giving poorer service. One notable example is that nearly all new suburban residences do not receive city delivery, but are served by rural routes. In most cases these routes were already overloaded.

When mail is lightest and roads at their best, carriers of such heavily patronized routes are hard pressed to get mail collected on route into Post Office in time for regular dispatch. When roads are extra bad and mail extra heavy, one or both, delivery is very seriously delayed, frequently one, two or even three hours.

At least, until automation is greatly implemented the Post Office Department will probably dip deeper into taxes to meet expenses and give poorer service. The obvious, good government solution will be ignored unless a lot more ordinary taxpayers demand it.

The same applies to bad government, generally. Lawmakers need only the louder squawks.

Shriver May Be New Envoy to France
By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver's absence from this fall's elections is spurring speculation here the anti-poverty chief may be appointed ambassador to France.

Shriver, 52, the former Peace Corps director who is the brother-in-law of Sens. Robert F. and Edward M. Kennedy, once appeared a likely choice for the Illinois Democratic party's nomination for either governor or U.S. senator.

But shortly after Illinois Democratic leaders announced their choice Tuesday of a Shriver-less slate, the rumor spread quickly in Washington that President Johnson would nominate the director of the Office of Economic Opportunity for the Paris post.

In Austin, Tex., White House press secretary George Christian said he had no information on moves involving Shriver. An OEO spokesman said there was no truth to the rumors.

It was understood, however, that President Johnson offered Shriver the Paris post several weeks ago but Shriver said he did not want to make up his

Immigration Bill Assured in Britain

By RONALD THOMSON
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The Labor government's emergency bill to restrict colored immigration to Britain from East Africa was headed today for speedy passage into law after receiving overwhelming approval in the House of Commons.

Despite loud censure of the immigration bill from liberals, both Laborite and Conservative legislators paid heed to the urban masses who fear the competition for housing and jobs from colored immigrants from Commonwealth countries.

The vote in Commons on the crucial second reading of the bill Tuesday night was 372-62, with about 180 members abstaining or staying away. The opposing votes came from 35 Laborites, 15 Conservatives, 10 Liberals and the two nationalist members from Scotland and Wales.

The House heard the result in silence, with no expression of victory or jubilation.

After speedy approval in Commons on third reading and in the House of Lords, the bill was expected to get the royal assent of Queen Elizabeth II and become law by Thursday evening.

The bill is the result of a flood of immigrants of Indian and Pakistani origin who are being driven out of Kenya by new laws discriminating against non-Africans. Some 100,000 Indians and Pakistanis in Kenya chose to retain British citizenship when the East African territory became independent at the end of 1963. Almost all of them were born in Kenya and have never seen Britain, India or Pakistan.

The bill allows the government to set an immigration quota of 1,500 a year plus dependents on British citizens born outside of Britain whose parents also were not native-born. Critics charged the bill was racist and a breach of Britain's obligations to her overseas citizens.

Home Secretary James Callaghan told Commons it "must face the fact" that a million members of minority groups in former colonies had British passports and might descend on Britain.

Callaghan made one concession to the critics. Reversing himself, he said citizens refused admission would have the right of legal appeal.

In an Associated Press interview a little more than a year ago, Shriver indicated he would not be adverse to being named to an ambassadorship.

Illinois Democratic party leaders chose state Atty. Gen. William G. Clark to be the party's nominee for U.S. senator and Lt. Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro for the governorship race.

Through a spokesman in the Office of Economic Opportunity, Shriver said he was not offered either nomination. He did not go to Chicago during the weekend to ask the party's backing for either post.

Clark will oppose Republican incumbent Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, who has announced he'll seek re-election and who has been friendly to Johnson than many others in the Senate, including Democrats.

Some Capitol Hill sources said they felt that if Johnson had backed Shriver for either the governor or Senate nominations Illinois party leaders would have named him to the slate.

Before pursuing our discussion of Blackwood we want to start with the warning that the Blackwood convention should only be used when you intend definitely to bid a slam and merely wish to make sure that you have enough aces.

In other words it's really for the purpose of keeping you out of impossible slams, not to get you to bad ones.

The next thing to remember about the convention is that there are plenty of slams that should be bid without recourse to Blackwood at all.

Specifically, you avoid Blackwood anytime you have a worthless doubleton in an unbid suit. The reason for this is that if your partner's response shows that there is exactly one ace held against you, you won't know whether or not to bid the slam.

We cover this by the following rule: We never use Blackwood unless we plan to bid a small slam any time our partner's response shows that our side holds three of the four aces.

How do you invite or bid a slam without using Blackwood? Easy! You use cue bids.

The bidding in the box shows how the winning pair in a team match stayed out of trouble. South was really interested in a slam after his partner jumped to four hearts. He was even interested in a grand slam but saw no reason to bid Blackwood. He merely bid five clubs.

This was a strong slam invitation and it told North that South was worried about the diamond suit. With the king or a singleton diamond North would have jumped to six hearts. With the ace of diamonds, North would have bid five diamonds. With two potential quick diamond losers, North merely bid five hearts.

At the other table, South Blackwooded his way into the losing slam.

A—Bid five hearts. Your partner is choosing to invite a slam by means of a cue bid. Show him your ace of hearts to see what he will do next.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You bid five hearts and he jumps to six spades. What do you do now?

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Body Organ Transplants Fall Into Three Groups

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

As more is being learned about transplanting organs from one person to another, the types of organ capable of such transfer are increasing. Organs fall into three groups in this respect. Such organs as the ovaries and parathyroids (both hormone producers) are the least likely to be rejected and can be transplanted without the use of agents to suppress a foreign body reaction.

The second group—kidneys, liver, lungs, adrenals and thyroid—can be transplanted with the use of such agents. Oddly enough the skin (group three), which was one of the first tissues besides blood (the fluid tissue) to be transferred from one person to another, is the most likely to be rejected. That is why skin grafts are now always taken from another part of the patient's own body.

The incompatibility of transplants in general appears to reside in differences in both the red and white blood cells of the donor and the recipient. A common complication following organ transplants is pneumonia, apparently unrelated to the transplantation operation.

Two moral problems are presented by organ transplants. In the case of a kidney transplant, whether to risk impairing the health of a normal donor (usually a close relative) or to use the kidney of a person who has just died (a less satisfactory procedure), is a difficult decision to make.

and one that must be decided on the merits of the case in question. In the case of a heart transplant, the decision is even harder because some people ask why, if the heart can be removed from one man and made to function in another, could it not have been made to keep the donor alive. The answer is that the damage to the donor's brain is permanent and irreparable.

In the case of Louis Washkansky in South Africa, even though he survived the heart transplantation for only 17 days, the operation proved that a transplanted heart can function in a human being. Undoubtedly heart transplants in the future will be more successful. Meanwhile, the proportion of successes in transplanting kidneys, liver and other organs is increasing.

Inconvenient Time for Applause:
Martin Report

Valid criticism is good any old time, but applause may come at a moment that is disconcerting. This truth was driven home to me by an article in the February issue of American Press, graphic arts magazine of Chicago, praising The Star for outstanding four-color printing.

But the applause catches us in the middle of trouble. For the last two weeks we have been working on a process color run, finally scheduled for publication yesterday—but again postponed. It's a page of leaping porpoises which your editor photographed in Kodachrome at Florida's Marine land water show a few years back. Obviously the porpoises are better hands at jumping than we are in meeting the technical problems of getting the show into print.

The fact that we produced 12 process color shows in 1967 doesn't mean a thing in technology. Like they say about a Hollywood actress, you're no better than the picture you are working on today. We'll eventually whip our trouble—but the imponderable is "When?"

The applause in the February American Press came from Dorsey Biggs, famous Atlanta (Ga.) printing authority, who writes the "Newspaper Production" column for the Chicago monthly. A newspaper publisher freshly converted to offset printing writes Mr. Biggs: "We are shooting for process color. Are there any papers under 5,000 circulation using full color?"

In 13 months of 1966-67 Hope Star went from letterpress printing on an old flatbed press to offset on a high-speed rotary press and four-color work with a Berkeley color separator, the first 8x10 model bought by an American newspaper. Mr. Biggs tells our story in detail with gusto. Thanks, Mr. Biggs. Now we'll get out that 13th color show if it kills us...

We seem to have been elected the official reporter for purple martins arriving home on the Spring migration from South America. This morning's report: Mrs. O. F. Lloyd of Old Highway 67 (Hope Route 4) says three martins are camping out on her TV antenna—and singing! Her birds are early. Last year they didn't arrive until March 17.

At my martin houses it is still no dice. I have never had an arrival before March, usually around the middle of the month. Repeating our earlier caution: Don't forget to clean out your boxes to eliminate sparrows and their nests. You should do this immediately when the martins appear. They won't run the sparrows out. If you don't do the job for them the martins will simply look up boxes not already occupied.

More Rain, Some Snow Is Forecast

More rain and some snow is expected in Arkansas through Thursday as a cold front moves southward and a weak pressure system invades the state.

The U. S. Weather Bureau reported that the cold front would move into the state tonight, bringing snow accumulations in the north portion and cold temperatures over the state.

A weak low pressure system that brought rain to the state Tuesday night and moved eastward has returned to Louisiana bringing more rain for South Arkansas.

Rain accumulations ranged up to .27 of an inch at Fayetteville and .24 at Fort Smith. Memphis recorded .21 while Texarkana had .04 and Little Rock .21.

Lows reported around the state this morning ranged from 38 degrees at Fayetteville and Fort Smith to 45 at El Dorado. Highs Tuesday ranged from 51 at Fayetteville and Walnut Ridge to 64 at Texarkana.

Soviet Ships Harassing U.S. Vessels

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet ships have reportedly harassed U.S. Navy vessels about a dozen times in the waters off Korea since the Communist North Korean seizure of the intelligence ship Pueblo.

Both the U.S. and Soviet Union sent seaable naval forces into the Sea of Japan crisis area in the wake of the Pueblo incident.

Most of the harassments have gone unreported officially, sources said, apparently to avoid aggravating American tensions over the situation growing out of the seizure of the Pueblo and its crew.

The only one reported involved a collision, described as minor, between the U.S. destroyer Rowan and a Soviet merchant ship, the Kapitlan V. Solbikov, on Jan. 31. The U.S. claimed the Rowan had the right of way.

The unreported incidents were near-misses, sources said. By this, they meant that Soviet ships, mostly destroyers and intelligence gathering craft, steamed into the midst of U.S. naval formations or sailed dangerously close to American ships.

Both countries have scaled down their naval forces in the waters off Korea recently. At one point, the Soviets had some 14 warships, including two cruisers, operating in the same general area where the U.S. fleet had been built up.

Birthday Remarks That Dismay a Woman Over 29 and Man Over 39

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Birthday remarks that dismay a woman over 29—or a man over 39: "Keep your chin up, Marge—it'll get worse before it gets better."

"Why not look at it this way, Harry: nobody gets any younger."

"If we put candles on it, I'm afraid we'll have to get her a larger cake. Frankly, I think it would be more tactful if we left off the candles altogether."

"The last time we put candles on Harry's birthday cake it took him ten minutes to blow them all out, and he was so winded he had to stay home from work for three days."

"As your insurance agent, Harry, I think this is the proper time to review your estate program, and, by the way, we haven't revised your will lately, have we? You know there are some things we simply cannot afford to put off until tomorrow, aren't there?"

"Yes, Marge does look nice on her birthday. Five hours in a beauty shop can do a lot for any woman."

To Ask for More Troops for Vietnam

By FRANK CORMIER

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson returned to Washington today for a White House meeting at which Chairman Earle G. Wheeler of the Joint Chiefs of Staff was expected to seek more U.S. troops for Vietnam.

Gen. Wheeler, who just visited the battle zone, was to meet at breakfast with Johnson and the President's top-level military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers. A full-scale Cabinet meeting, described as a regular session, was set for later in the day.

There was no indication the Wheeler-Johnson conference would produce any immediate announcement that more fighting men will be sent to Vietnam. Johnson aides continued to insist, as recently as Tuesday night, that no formal request for reinforcements had been presented to the President.

However, Johnson said last week more men will be dispatched if needed. And Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the

Overhaul of Draft System Is Proposed

By EDWIN B. HAACKINSON

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, saying a disproportionate percentage of draftees are killed in Vietnam, proposes a complete overhaul of the Selective Service Act—including a draft lottery intended to insure maximum fairness.

The Massachusetts Democrat proposed that 19-year-olds be inducted first and called for revisions of the system of deferments for students.

His 7,000-word speech was prepared for Senate delivery today.

In another Senate speech, Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., also urged President Johnson to substitute lottery or random selection of draftees and to have younger men inducted first.

Kennedy introduced a bill containing many provisions rejected by Congress last year. They included:

—Random selection, with the specific plan to be set up by the President.

—Deferments of up to four years for students of colleges, junior and business colleges, apprentices and vocational programs.

—Discontinuance of the stu-

Negro Gains Runoff in Mississippi

By JAMES SAGGUS

Associated Press Writer
JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Negro leader Charles Evers prepared today for his uphill runoff battle against white conservative Charles Griffin for the congressional seat vacated by Gov. John Bell Williams.

"We're going to win this election," Evers told his followers after clinching a place against Griffin, Williams' key Washington aide for almost two decades, in the March 12 runoff.

Evers, the first Negro to become a serious challenger for a Mississippi congressional post this century, took advantage of a six-way split in the white vote to lead the first round of balloting Tuesday.

In the final unofficial tabulation he had almost 30 per cent of the vote with 33,645 to 28,792 for Griffin. Five losing white candidates had 52,188.

State Sen. Ellis Bodron of Vicksburg had 22,929, Troy Watkins of Natchez 10,446, Dist. Atty. Joe Pigott of McComb 8,284, and David Perkins of Jackson 2,649. Republican Haggen Thompson of Jackson had 7,980.

All six of the white candidates campaigned as conservatives.

In Mississippi special congressional elections, all candidates run in one field, regardless of party. The two high men enter a runoff if no candidate gets a majority.

A heavy Negro turnout in many areas pushed the vote total to about 115,000, or 15,000 more than had been predicted.

The celebration at Griffin's headquarters matched that at Evers'—most observers said winning a runoff spot against Evers was tantamount to winning the congressional seat Williams held for 21 years.

"The time has come for concerned citizens of this district to unite behind Charles Griffin to insure a solid victory for responsible government," the 41-year-old Griffin said.

South Vietnam Failure to Launch Followup Attacks Disappointing

AP News Digest

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have been sharply disappointed by South Vietnam's failure to launch fast follow-up attacks on Communist forces weakened by severe losses during their offensive against South Vietnamese cities.

The Viet Cong, according to all the information available here, is now working through much of the countryside of South Vietnam to press new recruits into service and to train and reorganize units for further offensive operations. For the time being they are considered vulnerable to vigorous military action by South Vietnamese forces.

Publicly, Johnson administration authorities speak only good of the South Vietnamese allies and are usually quick to deny critical reports. In the present case, however, officials privately don't conceal their concern about the lack so far of powerful follow-up action.

The situation is acute for two reasons:

1. President Johnson will have to decide in a few days, after hearing reports from Chairman Earle G. Wheeler of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, whether to send another 100,000 or so American troops to South Vietnam beyond the 525,000 force level already scheduled.

The performance of South Vietnamese forces will inevitably be brought up in congressional debate for comparison with the burden of fighting to be carried by U.S. forces.

2. The conflict has entered a very critical and possibly decisive phase. The new phase opened at the end of January with coordinated Communist attacks on 100 South Vietnamese communities. The Communists have declared this a drive to win decisive victories and it will certainly have a vital effect on the war's future course.

Johnson and the U.S. commander in South Vietnam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, both have claimed that in the first wave of the offensive against the cities the enemy suffered a complete military defeat.

There is no doubt that the Viet Cong and cooperating North Vietnamese forces failed to hold any of the cities and towns they attacked and failed to set off any great political uprising. They also did not collapse the Saigon government or cause defections of South Vietnamese military units.

On the other hand they seem to have destroyed utterly the security system and related pacification program in the village-dotted countryside. And it is there that they are believed to be healing their wounds and rebuilding strength today—and there that they are considered vulnerable.

4,000 More U.S. Troops in Vietnam

By GEORGE ESPEY

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Four thousand U.S. paratroopers from the 82nd Airborne Division have arrived in Vietnam to bolster allied defenses against new Communist attacks and pressure, the American Command announced today.

The new arrivals, the 82nd's 3rd Brigade, are part of the 10,500 men President Johnson ordered from the United States two weeks ago in response to Gen. William C. Westmoreland's urgent request because of North Vietnamese pressure on Khe Sanh and the prospect of new Communist attacks on South Vietnam's cities and towns.

The brigade of paratroopers raised U.S. troop strength in Vietnam to an estimated 504,000, still 21,000 short of the 525,000-man ceiling now planned. But Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, the chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, left Saigon Sunday with a request from Westmoreland that Johnson raise that ceiling.

Eighty per cent of the 4,000 paratroopers are veterans of at least one tour of combat duty in Vietnam. They have been assigned, at least temporarily, to the U.S. Americal Division, a grouping of infantry brigades and other units that is responsible for a 100-mile stretch of coastal lowlands south of Da Nang.

The division of the paratroopers into the Americal Division will free another brigade of 4,000 men from the division for duty closer to the critical northern frontier, where the U.S. Command believes it faces its strongest potential pressure, particularly at Khe Sanh. An estimated 40,000 North Vietnamese troops are menacing Khe Sanh, the big Marine fortress in the northwest corner of the country.

Since the first of the year, two brigades from the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and a brigade of paratroopers from the 101st Airborne Division have been moved north. There are now more than 50,000 U.S. Marines and Army men in the two northernmost provinces of South Vietnam Quang Tri and Thua Thien, below the demilitarized zone and above Da Nang.

Senior U.S. officers expect an all-out North Vietnamese attack on Khe Sanh which likely would develop into the biggest battle of the war so far.

The new paratroop brigade was ordered to Vietnam from its home base at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Youth Talent Show Here Friday Night

"Up, Up, and Away," a Youth Talent Show, will be staged at Hope High School Friday, March 1, at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Arkansas, Sharon Evans of North Little Rock, will be the featured guest and will share her experiences and talent with the audience.

The talent show is the first fund-raising project in a drive to obtain a new recreation center for Hope's youth.

The idea for the new center came after a discussion of problems in a journalism class. The young people then invited several civic leaders, their principal, several school leaders, and the parks and recreation director to an open discussion in their class.

Following this, a committee of five young people from the class have appeared before civic groups and the city board, making a plea for support.

"We know that what we're asking is not impossible but that it will take time and effort. We know, too, that enthusiasm is our biggest contribution and that the community will have to take the lead," said Susan McCall, Student Council vice president, and a member of the committee.

Mrs. B. B. McPherson is directing the production assisted by Dennis Peddie, Mrs. McDowell Turner and the Journalism I class are in charge of the sale of tickets.

No Further Hearings on Tonkin Case

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee reportedly plans no further hearings on the disputed Gulf of Tonkin incidents.

It will push instead, a committee source says, for asserting a congressional iron hand over U.S. military commitments.

In questioning Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara last week the committee chairman, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., indicated he might want to call more witnesses. But the sources said the senator had changed his mind.

"Unless the administration trots out more celebrities to be interviewed, the committee won't go any further," the sources said, referring to interviews granted recently by Capt. John J. Herrick, who commanded the two destroyers involved in the Tonkin incidents.

"Sen. Fulbright is quite satisfied that the committee has made its point. That was to make clear that the Gulf of Tonkin incident lifted from Congress and the public the right to debate the issues in Vietnam."

Congress, with Fulbright leading the way, passed a resolution empowering the President "to take all necessary measures" to prevent further aggression after the two destroyers reported they were attacked in the Gulf by North Vietnamese boats.

President Johnson and top aides have frequently cited the 1964 resolution as authority for subsequently increasing U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Pained at this interpretation, the Foreign Relations Committee last November passed a national commitments resolution. Fulbright will take it to the Senate floor next month.

Joint resolutions such as those pertaining to Formosa, the Middle East and the Gulf of Tonkin are a proper method of granting authority, provided that they are precise as to what is to be done and for what period of time, and provided that they do in fact grant authority and not merely express approval of undefined action to be taken by the President, the resolution says.

It would require that Congress, in considering resolutions "involving the use or possible use of the armed forces":

— Debate the proposal at sufficient length to establish a legislative record showing the intent of Congress;

— Use the words "authorize" or "empower" to leave no doubt that Congress alone has the constitutional right to authorize initiation of war and that, in granting the President authority to use the armed forces, Congress is granting power that he would not otherwise have;

— State in the resolution as explicitly as possible the kind of military action that is being authorized;

— Put a time limit on the resolution, thereby assuring Congress the opportunity to review its decision and extend or terminate the President's authority to use military force.

"It was a committee decision to hear only the Defense Department," said the committee source. "By calling the commander of the ship, and the various officers and men involved, we would be turning the inquiry into an investigation."

Economizers Win Over Art Lovers

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Economizers and art lovers have clashed in the first congressional budget fight of the year and not even Ralph Waldo Emerson could help the embattled forces of culture.

The House rejected Tuesday night a proposed two-year authorization of $135 million for the arts and humanities, voting instead for a one-year program at $11.2 million.

Seeking a big expansion in the three-year-old program, the bill's backers cited Emerson's words: "The true test of civilization is not the census, nor the size of cities, nor the crops—no, but the kind of man the country turns out."

They had in mind the man who cultivates the garden of the mind as well as tills the soil. But the words were used against them by Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the Appropriations Committee.

Arguing the nation's fiscal situation could not stand any increases over current spending levels for such programs, Ma-

Cubans Lose Gamble for Asylum

By JAY R. SHARBUTT
Associated Press Writer
VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Three Cubans lost a wild gamble to win asylum in the United States when a 292-foot Cuban ship from which they fled in a lifeboat rammed their small craft in international waters off Virginia.

The captain of the Cuban ship messaged U.S. Coast Guardmen on the scene that the three were his crewmen and were picked up from the water. The Coast Guard said it did not see what happened to the three after the ramming incident.

Earlier the Cubans seized the ship, the 26 de Julio, but failed in an attempt to bring her into Norfolk when they could not get the anchor up, Coast Guardmen said.

A Coast Guard vessel stood by but did not interfere because the incident occurred well beyond the 3-mile limit. The ship's captain radioed later that "The trouble is settled now. We go back to Cuba."

The episode, covering 15 hours, reached its climax off the coast of Virginia Tuesday afternoon. This was the sequence of events as related by the Coast Guard:

At 2 a.m. Tuesday the Cuban ship radioed that the crew sought political asylum. She was instructed to head for Hampton Roads and the cutter Point Brown was dispatched to meet her. With Master Boatswain's Mate P. W. Caviness, 43, of Silver City, N.C., in command.

Caviness said he watched the ship anchor 10 miles east-northeast of Cape Henry Tuesday morning. He said he had instructions not to board the vessel but to try to get it into inland waters—inside the U.S. territorial limit.

"But they were having trouble getting their anchor up," he related, and about 1:30 p.m. he saw three men lower a lifeboat, climb into it and start rowing away.

Soon, he said, a number of men appeared on the deck, the ship got under way, dragging its anchor, and rammed the lifeboat twice.

On a third pass, Caviness said, the ship stopped between the cutter and the lifeboat and "I didn't see them (the three men) anymore."

He didn't interfere, Caviness said, because he was awaiting orders and "I wasn't prepared to go out there and take action that might involve the whole nation and might be over my head."

He said that by the time of the third pass he had received orders to "take all necessary steps to see that this Cuban vessel did not run over this boat a third time...my guns were uncovered."

Coast Guard sources said the armament of the Point Brown included a .50-caliber machine gun and an .81mm mortar. Crewmen leaving the craft upon its return to port carried M1 rifles and submachine guns.

Lt. Cmdr. R. H. Elkins, 43, of North Cape May, N.J., was aboard the Coast Guard tug Chock which arrived later and pulled alongside the 26 de Julio.

Elkins talked through an interpreter to the master of the Cuban vessel, Ricardo Puri, whom he described as "anxious to apologize and explain what happened."

Passage of LSD Bill Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The acting chairman of a House Commerce subcommittee predicts the House will overwhelmingly pass the bill to impose penalties for possession of the hallucinatory drug LSD.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., told a reporter Tuesday the subcommittee probably will send the administration bill to the floor before Easter.

Subcommittee hearings ended Tuesday with assurances by Commissioner of Narcotics Henry L. Giordano that proposed penalties for possession of the mind-bending drug would be aimed at pushers, rather than experimenting students.

"As far as I am concerned," Giordano told a questioner, "these penalties are not aimed at putting young people in jail. They are aimed at the traffickers."

Rep. Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky., who had called the possession portion of the bill "absolutely unenforceable," said he would support it, provided it is not used to imprison high school and college students who experiment with dangerous drugs.
